Love at the Crossroads: Till We All Get Free Liberatory Intersections to Transform Ourselves and Our World

Love is the power that holds us together and is at the center of our shared values. We are accountable to one another for doing the work of living our shared values through the spiritual discipline of Love.

– Unitarian Universalist Article II Commission

This Sunday as we gather up the learnings of our River of Grass Bending the Arc series and the Side With Love 30 Days of Love for 2023, we'll lift up the heart or our faith and work as we look to know – and do – our part to transform ourselves and this world in the wake of such a long season of change. For as much as the world and our lives do change, the yearning toward liberation for all grows all the louder still. Come lend your voice – and your heart – to our shared mission to get us all free. We can only get there together.

Come as you are – either in-person at the Old Davie Schoolhouse at the Historical Auditorium or virtually on Zoom. We welcome you on Sunday morning at 10:30. Come a bit before and we can Chat prior to the service... See you then!
